Perhaps you're unaware that we share media with you.
A good combination can make a huge difference to the heat you feel on the other side.
hey the iPods were expensive but you had no problems selling them.
Well, there it is, we see your TV spots, we hear the internet speak about the iPhone, we flip over our favourite magazines and find an iPhone ad on the back.
Perhaps you're unaware that we share media with you.
what a novel name for a phone!
Even at an expensive asking price you're bound to sell, sell, sell.
just one guy gettin' it done.
Either way - if I'm not paying for Epson ink I'm going to have to choose one generic to try.
The point of the stampede is the chucks and rodeo - the drinking, debauchery, food and rides are there because of the chucks and rodeo.
and the couldn't tell you which it was without a thermometer anyway!
It'll also make you feel like you're living in a cave or bunker.
It'll also make you feel like you're living in a cave or bunker.
Why do we have to hear about everyone else enjoying the technology before it's even considered that perhaps a Canadian would like to carry an iPhone?
so why can't I get one?
and none of this is rocket science.
I don't think anyone saw that coming.
You can't buy an iPhone in Canada.
what a novel name for a phone!
This really helped on my journey to the bottom of the Grand Canyon last year.
perhaps you didn't know there isn't a Canadian edition of every magazine and TV channel you have.
of course this concept looks rather like self-generated eBilling.

I think those wonderful glossy iPhone commercials should have an apology to Canadians, or at least mention that we should put it out of our minds for the time being while things are worked out.
Yes I know your phone is groundbreaking, yes I see it's popular and does many great things, yes I know it's available now.
What's worrying about said news, is there aren't any definite times, there isn't anything certain, and there's no excuse for the delay.
pointing a fan to blow hot air out through an open window is more effective than sucking cool air in through the window.
It's all relative of course.
I understand with all the hype and fanboys, it wasn't going to be hard to sell y our phone.

If you're really adventurous you can even dip your feet in cool water, but for t hose with ticklish feet, that might be a bit extreme.

and none of this is rocket science.

Just be warned - you'll see a difference on your utility bill.

Never the less there are times when the heat can become too much.
